STABBING AFFRAY.

A Bad Case of Carving on Broadway, Last Night.

Chas. Young Sliced Up by One Chas. Bailey.

A stabbing affray occurred on Broadway last night, which, although serious of itself, will probably not prove very serious in its results.

The principal participants in the affair were Chas. J. Young and Charles Bailey. Young is well known in the city, as is also Bailey, although the latter is not so well known as the former. Bailey is a one armed man who has been a resident of the city for some time, and is unmarried.

The particulars of the fracas as far as can be learned are substantially as follows:

Last evening Young left his house at 287 west Jefferson street at about 9 o'clock to take a stroll down town. He passed down by Anderson's hall where a dance was in progress. He went up stairs, and meeting a party was asked by them to go with them to get a drink.

They repaired to Monnack's saloon, and while there became engaged in a quarrel, in the progress of which Bailey struck Young, whereupon Young grasped a billiard cue and struck at Bailey, but missing him struck somebody else and knocked him down. The affair terminated by the proprietor putting the whole party out of the saloon.

The parties then separated, and shortly afterward Young again went into the dance hall for a few minutes; coming down again he met officer McCann on the corner of Broadway and Jefferson streets, and he and he had a short conversation, and then turning went down Jefferson street, intending to go home.

On reaching the hall entrance on Jefferson street he was met by Bailey and his friends, who upon seeing him said:

"There is the son of a b—h; let's go for him."

A few blows were exchanged when Bailey drew a knife, and struck at Young, giving him a ghastly cut across the face, the gash beginning at the corner of the eye and extending obliquely across his face to the base of his chin. The knife went clear to the bone, and in the soft part of the cheek cut entirely through to the mouth.

Young struck Bailey and knocked him back against the building whereupon the whole party, seeing the blood spurting from Young's face, lit out.

Young at once went to Zimmerman's drug store, but Mr. Zimmerman said he could not sew up the wound, when Young repaired to Dr. Myers residence and had the wound dressed.

The arteries of the face were all severed and the hemorrhage was profuse. While he was being fixed up, Bailey called at the house of Dr. Myers, to see how badly Young was cut. Young then wanted Bailey arrested, but there being no officer present he skipped out, and has not since been heard from. Young did not recognize any of the rest of his assailants. He is resting quite easy at present and no serious results are apprehended, although he will probably be disfigured for life.

LATE CITY NEWS.

BESTIALITY.

Arrest of a Well-Known Citizen on a Charge of Indecency.

His Alleged Victims Little Girls from Eleven to Thirteen Years Old.

Last night James A. Sanford, an engineer, living at 133 Holman street, went before Mayor Zollinger and filed an affidavit charging Elias Johnson, a well known rag and tinware dealer, with committing a lewd and filthy act. A warrant was issued, but Johnson could not be found until this morning, when he was arrested, and gave $500 bond with Robt. Stratton as surety for his appearance before the mayor at 3 this afternoon.

Mr. Sanford states that Johnson, by the offer of money, candy, etc., enticed his (Sanford's) daughter Emma into his rag shop, and there made a disgusting and indecent display of his person, placed his hands under the girl's clothes, and took other liberties with her.

It is charged that Johnson has been guilty of these disgraceful actions for years.

The daughters of Chas. W. Buck, the newsdealer, at 272 Calhoun street, Jonathan H. Fisher, an engineer living at No. 151 Holman street, and Eli Kramer, whose ages range from eleven to thirteen, are said to have been enticed by Johnson into his shop and subjected to similar outrages. It is not believed, however, that Johnson has succeeded in effecting the ruin of any young woman. It is said, however, that for years his conduct towards little girls has been of the most scandalous description.

If Johnson is found guilty the penalty under the ordinance will be a fine of not to exceed $100 and a term in the county jail. He will probably be prosecuted under the state law also.

Sanford and the other outraged fathers were on the war path last night, and would have made it hot for Johnson if they had found him.

Johnson asserts his innocence, but his reputation is against him. He has an estimable wife and family, who have the sympathy of the community.

A CHURCH DIFFICULTY.

Bishop Dwenger Removes a Catholic Priest at Lafayette.

He is Severely Criticized, but Probably Knows What He is About.

Yesterday's Cincinnati Enquirer contained the following special telegram from Lafayette:

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 14.—By the action of Bishop Dwenger, the Rev. M. M. Hamilton, pastor of St. Anthony's church of this city, has been compelled to sever his connection with the church. The Catholic people here are considerably excited over this matter, and it is their unanimous sentiment that the bishop has utterly failed to have given him the consideration when he removed Father Hamilton. He has been connected with St. Mary's church since 1869, and enjoys the esteem not only of his people, but of the whole community. A few months ago, a petition signed by the members of the congregation, and signed and presented to the bishop, asking that he be given his office, and to punish the petitioners he removes the priest of their choice and retains the one they do not want. There is considerable feeling over this, and they will hardly submit with grace.

This morning a SENTINEL reporter was instructed to take the above dispatch to the Episcopal residence on Clinton street, submit it to Bishop Dwenger and obtain from him a statement of the facts. He found, however, that the bishop was out of town, and will not return until Friday. One thing, however, may be regarded as certain, that whatever action the bishop has taken has not been dictated by personal feelings, but by a regard for the good of the congregation interested and of the diocese.

CITY COUNCIL.

An Interesting Special Session Last Evening.

A Variety of Important Business Transacted.

The council met last night in adjourned session with his honor the mayor in the chair, and all the councilmen present excepting Councilman Chittenden.

The contracts with the SENTINEL, Gazette and Staats Zeitung for the city printing, according to the specifications, were read and on motion were approved. Also the contract with J. C. Peters for lumber for the city for the ensuing year at $14 per 1,000 feet with Fred Eckert as security. Also the contract with the New York Gutta Percha and Rubber Company for 2,000 feet of carbolized hose were approved.

The water works trustees reported contracts with R. D. Wood & Co. for pipe and pipe laying; with the Ludlow Valve Co. for hydrants, and with the Mohawk and Hudson Valve Co. for valves. The report was received and placed on file.

The water works committee reported that the trustees had examined and closed contracts with certain different companies as reported, and they would recommend that the said contracts be ratified by the council.

On motion the full text of the contracts with specifications was read.

The water works committee reported through their chairman, that they did not report in favor of the bonds, as they knew nothing of the sureties; contracts could be approved now and the bonds afterwards.

On motion the contracts were referred to the committee on water works.

The committee on water works having already acted on the contracts, reported them for approval. Concurred in and referred to the city attorney.

The city attorney reported on the contracts that they were in all things sufficient. Concurred in.

Councilman Bash moved to approve the contracts as reported. Carried.

The water works committee further reported as follows:

Your committee on water works, to whom was referred the different proposals for land on which a reservoir may be constructed, beg leave to report that they have examined the proposals and also the different tracts of land, and find that the lands represented by E. J. Hayden and J. H. Hill are not suitable for the purpose, as long as better and more suitable lands can be had. The two best tracts are the ones represented by T. G. Olds and the Hamiltons. The Olds offers about 25 acres at $14,000, with an estimated additional cost to bring the same to a level with the lands of the Hamiltons of $5,000, and the Hamiltons offer four square acres (about 14 acres) or seven square acres (about 28 acres) at $32,000. The lands of the Hamiltons are in the opinion of your committee the most suitable location, but over the estimate of J. D. Cook in price.

J. W. VERMEREK, Chairman.

This report of the committee was received and filed and referred to the committee of the whole to visit the grounds this morning at 8.30. The committee is to submit their report at the next regular meeting.

The following RESOLUTIONS were then disposed of:

That the mayor appoint a committee of three to furnish statistics as required by the state board of geology and statistics, being provided for by law. Referred to the committee on judiciary and the city attorney.

That in the event that the city bonds could not be satisfactorily negotiated by the 20th inst., that the finance committee and treasurer be authorized to make a temporary loan until the bond could be placed. Adopted.

That the clerk give the city commissioners fifteen days' notice to meet and assess benefits and damages for the vacation of certain alleys in Hanna's addition, as prayed for by E. Postick and H. G. Wagner; adopted. Several

PETITIONS as follows were also read:

A petition from the American Union Telegraph Company, to run a line of poles through certain streets as prayed for; granted; from C. Grafmiller and F. C. Barrett, for extension of time to finish sidewalks on Maumeeavenue, Summit and Erie streets; granted; from H. C. F. Westerman, to build his own sidewalk on Hanover street, referred to the committee on streets; another from Westrum to have the College addition re-surveyed by Wm. Goshorn. Upon this petition the council were pleased to sit down, and that very heavily, it being tiding.

Patrick Ryan and Chas. Lipping were then announced as candidates for the office of city coal weigher. Ryan was elected on the first ballot, after which the council adjourned.

An Interesting Dialogue. To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

I wish you would publish the following dialogue which took between one of our citizens and a prominent hydraulic engineer, a bidder at the city letting.

Engineer—Wonder at this discussion of power in connection with your water works, for if the canal owners want to lease their water power they will finally do so, as they can sell it for much less than any intelligent engineer will estimate the cost of steam power. Water power, even at a coal mine, is cheaper than steam power, and here, where coal is necessarily expensive, it must be very much cheaper.

Citizen—But Jesse L. Williams and others say that it will never do to use water power, for the canal is liable to break, and if it should we would be left without water.

Engineer—That is ridiculous twaddle and nonsense, as Mr. Williams, if he is the engineer that he claims to be, well knows. Of course the canal may break. There never was an artificial water power made but what may break. To provide against such a contingency wherever water power is used a steam engine is held in reserve. If water power is adopted here your engineer will put in one engine instead of two, as he will do if steam power is used. The engine may not be needed in fifty years but it is always advisable to provide one for safety.

Citizen—But the dam may break and the expense of repairing may be so great that the canal owners will abandon the property altogether. Then the city will be out the cost of the water power machinery.

Engineer—Exactly. That is just what the city will be out—no more, no less. Now how much of a loss do you fancy there would be to the city in the event that water power is adopted and afterwards fails, and has to be abandoned and the machinery?

Citizen—I have never heard it estimated. Probably a very large sum, unless it is considerable (thru) is nothing to talk about, for I can't see what else the city stakes in adopting water power.

Engineer—That is all there is at stake, and that is why I said that I wonder at your discussing the question of power at all. Now, the whole cost of the machinery necessary to pump by water power which would have to be thrown aside if the change was made to steam power would not exceed $5,000.

Citizen—You surely must be mistaken. Why $5,000 in a $300,000 matter is a mere bagatelle. If you are correct, we have been making a mountain out of a mole hill, and no mistake. Five thousand dollars. Why, as Daniel Webster once said of the national debt, "Damn it, I've a notion to pay it myself."

Engineer—Well, it is true, as Mr. Cook will tell your trustees if they ask him. I am not surprised at your disgust. Anyone having information on the subject, and seeing Hettler, Jesse L. Williams and some others get red in the face and furious at mention of the word canal, can't help but be amused, and yet it is disgusting. I have tried to cypher out whether they are demagogues or ignoramuses, but I give it up.

Citizen—I confess that I haven't liked the word canal very well myself, but then I thought that there was some chance for the canal owners to steal something. As it is I can see no chance for them, for doubtless, if this machinery costs no more than you say, they would put it in themselves and lease it to the city for a rental no greater than the interest on the cost of a steam engine. I guess I haven't understood this power question very well. Let's go and take something.

LARWILL.

A Pleasant and Prosperous Village—Business Lively and No Failures—Normal Musical Institute.

(Correspondence of the SENTINEL.)

Larwill, Ind., Sept. 15, 1879.—We notice by Saturday's SENTINEL, that the list of debts taken at Larwill compares favorably with those of other points between Fort Wayne and Plymouth.

Larwill, twenty-eight miles west of Fort Wayne, on the F. W. & E. R. R., has a population of over 500, and is surrounded by a rich agricultural and grazing country. It has four dry goods stores; two drug stores; one harness shop; one commission carriage house; one hotel; and other occupied by trades to correspond—except that we have no saloon, and need none. These houses are a doing a safe and flourishing business. Large quantities of grain and produce are handled annually. It is a saying, not devoid of truth, that "no business firm failed in Larwill."

At present Larwill is "booming" in the midst of a Normal Musical Institute. This Institute is being conducted by Prof. J. F. Hensley, of Fort Wayne, as principal; Prof. Dawson as pianist, and Mr. Zimmerman as elementary teacher. Each one has proven himself a success, and much good is being done in both vocal and instrumental music. The Institute will close with two concerts. The "elementary" concert will be on Friday evening, Sept. 19, and the "full course" concert, Sept. 20th, will be the "full course" concert. All are invited and should attend, as no doubt they will be richly treated. N. C. HENSLEY.

Delphos (O.) Items.

Theodore Wrocklage has been elected president of the First National bank of Delphos, vice Randolph Reul, deceased. Mr. Wrocklage has been for years a prominent and successful merchant, and one of Delphos' most valued citizens, and will make the bank an excellent president. In the death of Capt. Reul the bank lost a most valuable officer.

Thomas Chambers, an old resident of Delphos, is now lying very low and it is feared cannot live but a short time.

Oscar Jettinger, cashier of the Commercial Bank of Delphos, was married very quietly Saturday evening at Ada, O., to Miss Croninger, of Willshire, Ohio, Rev. E. S. Scott, of Delphos, officiating. The relatives of both parties were kept in entire ignorance of the affair.

The "Mammoth" and "Miami."

To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

In reading the very interesting extract from McAlfee's History, published in your paper, I was led to inquire when and in what manner the Miami River began to be known as the Maumee. In 1816 it was universally called Miami. Can you or any of our readers inform me?

Respectfully,

INQUIRER.

STATE NEWS.

Columbia city had a rope walking entertainment on Monday.

A republican paper is to be started this week at Spencer, Owen county.

Alt. Hightfoot, of Connersville, had his pocket picked of $300 at the Rushville fair last Saturday.

The sale of the Crawfordsville & Southwestern Railroad excites considerable comment in railroad circles.

The residence of Aaron Smith, of Plainfield, was burned last Sunday morning. Loss, $1,500; insurance, $300.

An unknown man near Westport, undertook to commit suicide last Saturday by taking arsenic, but a stomach pump saved him.

Harry Woods, of Evansville, while wading last Saturday, fell from a tree and broke his leg above the knee. He lies in a dangerous condition.

The old round house of the C. H. & I. R. R., at Connersville, caught fire last Saturday morning and burned down. Loss $500; no insurance.

Last Saturday night burglars entered the hardware store of Ireland, Stephenson & Co., of Pendleton, taking goods to the amount of $150. No clue.

The striking molders at the car works of Jeffersonville have been paid off, and the company is making an effort to secure non-union men from other points.

Ben Morgan, living near Knights-town, was arrested last Friday upon the charge of murdering a man named Henderson, in Scott county, Ky., nearly two years ago.

Mary Smith, of St. Mary's, was drunk and near Carbon laid down on the I. and St. L. road last Saturday, when an east bound freight ran over her, lacerating her arm terribly.

Michael Foley, of Franklin, who was kicked by James Turpin three weeks ago, is dying, as mortification has set in. Turpin is lodged in jail under the grand jury indictment for manslaughter.

Now that poor old Kinder Ferguson is dead, the Lancet Journal imposes the following: "Sarah Mosely is the oldest person in Jefferson county, and probably in the state. She is in her one hundred and ninth year."

At Columbia City on Monday night while Isaac Brunnehan and family were at church, burglars entered their house and rifled all the stands, bureau drawers, etc., in the house. The burglars secured some $8 in cash, some jewelry and other valuables.

Mary E. Fortune, of Greensburg, undertook to seek a fortune by filing suit, charging her brother-in-law, George Clemons, with being the father of her unborn child. She claims that the child was begot while she and George were shearing sheep.

Joe Ellison, the express driver of Terre Haute, had a quarrel with Fred Faust about some stakes won at the fair grounds, and from words they came to blows, when Ellison drew a knife and stabbed Faust. Faust's recovery is doubtful. Ellison was arrested on the spot.

Peter McGookin, of Washington, committed suicide last Friday morning. He had been drinking heavily the night before, and on getting up in the morning, without the least warning, he raised a revolver to his head, saying: "This is the last." Whisky and financial embarrassment are thought to be the causes.

Harry Webb and Harry Carl, two boys of Jeffersonville, went out hunting last Saturday. After hunting several hours, both stopped to rest about fifteen yards apart, when Webb threw up a clod of earth, calling to Carl that there was a snipe. Carl fired and the whole charge took effect in young Webb's left shoulder and face. It may prove fatal. The boys were the best of friends.

General Railroad News.

Stock of the Pennsylvania road is again quite active and has advanced rapidly in consequence of rumors that the management of the company was desirous that the stock should rule at or above par. The earnings of the road were represented as very large, and it will not be a surprise if the next semi-annual dividend is at a percentage beyond that recently paid.

The Chicago city council having voted to allow the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad to enter the city, and the mayor having vetoed their ordinance, the council by a vote of thirty to five, passed the measure over the veto. It is generally understood that the Grand Trunk or the Wabash, or both roads, will now secure entrance into the city over this same line.

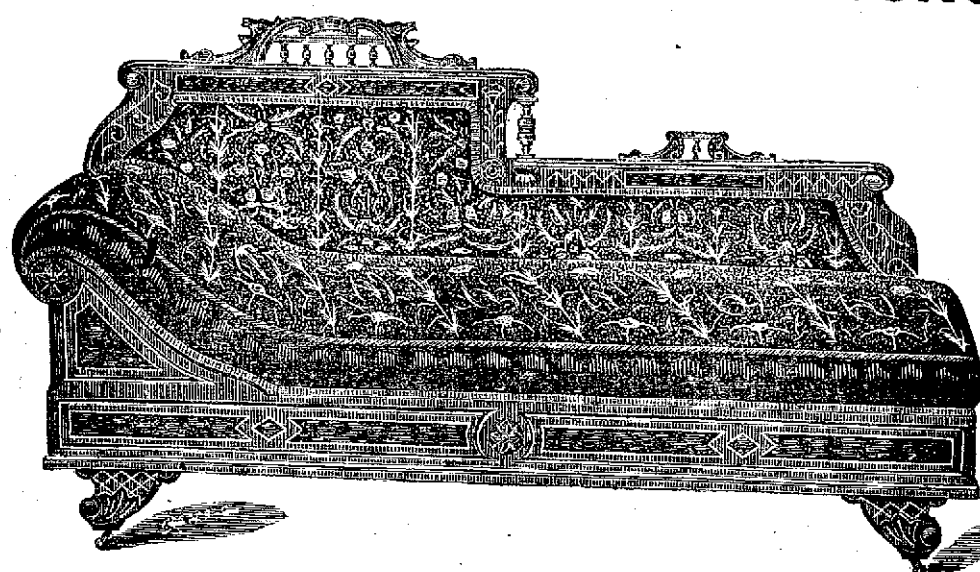

The eight roads composing the old southwestern rate association met Monday at Chicago, and appointed a committee to draft a plan for permanent reorganization. This committee, adopted and presented a plan on which the vote stood seven for and one against. A unanimous vote being indispensable, another attempt to harmonize all interests will be made. The dissenting vote came from the St. Louis, Kansas City & Northern Railroad.

Jay Gould was in consultation at Chicago Sunday with officials connected with the railroad lines under his control. Although he refused to be interviewed on the subject, it is learned that his conference was with reference to a scheme for the consolidation of the Wabash, the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern, and Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs Railroads, the compact to take effect on the 15th of October, subject to approval by the various stockholders. He also consulted regarding the appointment of the southwestern business to be given the consolidated line, and with reference to the opening of a branch line for freight and passengers in this city, which step, it is said, was determined upon. He stated that rumors current to the effect that Vanderbilt had obtained control of the Union Pacific and that Gould would go out of that road and extend the Kansas Pacific to Ogden were incorrect, and that he does not believe Vanderbilt holds one share of Union Pacific stock. Gould leaves for Denver Tuesday and will possibly go as far west as Ogden.
